BISCHÖFLICHES GYMNASIUM AUGUSTINUM

The Bischöfliches Gymnasium Augustinum in Graz has a long history of academic excellence. For more than 160 years, this private Catholic school has offered students from across Styria a multifaceted secondary education with an emphasis on language and communicative skills. It is located in the Augustinum, the diocesan centre of Styria, in Graz' third district, Geidorf.

Type of school

The Bischöfliches Gymnasium is a type of grammar school (allgemeinbildende höhere Schule). English and Information Technology is taught from year one. In year three students choose between Latin and Spanish. In year five students then have the opportunity to study Italian or Ancient Greek (NB: If Spanish is chosen in year three, Latin is then compulsory in year five).

Offenes Lernen – Independent Learning

In years one and two students participate in independent, focused learning. Through this method of learning, students develop independence, responsibility as well as social skills. This method promotes the development of individual learning strategies as students have the opportunity to learn at their own pace. “Independent Learning” encourages an enthusiasm for learning and sets students up with good habits for the rest of their academic career. “Independent Learning” takes place in the first lesson, Tuesday to Friday. During this time, students have many materials and resources from several subject areas available to them.

Morgenkreis – Social Education

Every Monday morning, in a relaxed atmosphere, students have the opportunity to develop a sense of community and camaraderie through play and discussion. Together with the class teacher, every day challenges and problems faced by the students themselves are discussed and possible solutions are suggested. Furthermore, students have the chance to participate in activities such as classroom decoration (Christmas, Easter, ...), which affords them a sense of ownership and pride in their own surroundings.

Music and Drama

A hallmark of the Bischöfliches Gymnasium is its music and drama department. Children, teenagers and parents alike enjoy the group's regular performances such as Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat in 2017, in which 250 students took part. Instruction in piano, organ, guitar and voice are offered.

Choir

Following a long tradition going back many years, the Bischöfliches Gymnasium choir is today one of the liveliest aspects of the school's extracurricular education. Under the guidance of Valentin Zwitter, students of all ages come together to perform classical and modern music in both concerts and in liturgical settings, both at home and abroad. Since 2011 the choir has been awarded with the Styrian choir award (Meistersinger Gütesiegel).
